

Mission-Focused Investments

Community-focused companies often face barriers to securing the growth capital they need to scale. This is especially true for entrepreneurs that live in, work in, or support underserved people and communities who too often only receive a mere fraction of traditional venture capital funding. Options are often limited to taking on debt or turning to capital that benefits the investor more than the business. Momentus Capital is changing that paradigm by providing the non-dilutive capital needed to grow at a pace that aligns with the strategy of the company.

Are you looking for an investor partner to support your growth without giving up control of your business? We deliver a new approach.
